

ABSTRACT

Form contents are automatically identified and can be included in a form definition. The form contents can include one or more fields to be included on the form and/or one or more restrictions on inputs to a field on the form.